

California Western School of Law International Law Journal Presents

Legal Symposium:

Indigenous Communities in the Modern Economy

An Analysis of Land Right Dilemmas in the United States and Israel

Friday, March 2, 2018

12:30PM* – 6:00PM

Moot Courtroom

350 Cedar Street

San Diego, CA 92101

*Lunch will be provided

Panelists

Judge Rachel Barkai

Judge of the Tel Aviv District
Court of Appeal in Israel

Judge Barbara McAuliffe

Federal Magistrate Judge of the Eastern District of California

Attorney Nicole Ducheneaux

Lead counsel to Cheyenne River
Sioux Tribe in action involving the Dakota Access Pipeline litigation

Dr. Tamar Arieli

Visiting Professor at San Diego State University

Professor Morad Elsana

Visiting Professor at California
Western School of Law

Dr. Nancy Postero

Director of the International Institute at UC San Diego

First Panel 1:45 – 3:15PM

Economic, social and cultural rights associated with indigenous land, and how the law is used to protect these rights

Second Panel 3:30– 5:00PM

A focus and analysis of actual disputes indigenous communities have litigated in the United States and Israel

RSVP: www.calwestlawreview.edu | Questions: info@calwestlawreview.edu

Sponsored by:

SDII Murray Galinson
San Diego-Israel Initiative

